TWO HUNDRED BUILDINGS BURNED IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Russia and Japan May Fight—Eighty Thousand Troops Concentrated at Vladivostok.

At 6 o'clock on the evening of June 27th, a fire started in San Francisco in the rear of Currier, Williams & Wright's box factory, on Fifth Street, between Bryant and Brannan. By 6 o'clock the two blocks bounded by Bryant and Bluxome, Fourth and Fifth streets were reduced to piles of glowing embers. Then, to complete the ruin, the fire jumped Fourth street, fanned by a stiff breeze, and licked up the western half of two blocks divided by Brannan, between Third and Fourth. Fortunately the breeze which prevailed during the hottest part of the conflagration died away, or more of the town would have been swept. The water pressure was not sufficient for the drain made upon it by the full complement of engines, and in some places the fire was left to burn itself out. Everything possible was done by the department but the blaze was too fierce for the fighters.

After destroying two complete blocks with the exception of the northeast quarter bounded by Fourth and Welsh streets, the destruction continued across Fourth street. It ravaged a strip half a block in width south to Townsend from Brannan and north to Welsh, a small thoroughfare between Bryant and Brannan. To the east, midway to Third, the progress was checked by the brick wine vaults of S. Lachman, on Zoe street, below Brannan. On the upper side the new Mechanics' Hotel and a Chinese wash-house headed off a further advance at Freelon street.

It was the worst fire in years and one of the most stubborn the firemen have tried to handle. The dry wooden buildings were like so much kindling wood and tall, three-story frames were snapped up in an instant. But one brick structure stood in the path of the devastating element, and that was St. Rose's Church on Brannan, near Fourth. The church was only partly completed, but was destroyed along with the rectory and schoolhouse. Several hotels, lodging-houses and a hundred or so humble homes were swept out of existence during the three hours the fire raged.

Six firemen were killed at Minneapolis by a falling wall.

China still stands Russia off in treaty negotiations. Russia has requested the government at Peking to put an end to delays and tergiversation.

Judge Ross has sustained Mrs. Stanford's demurrer, and the great case against her is practically ended. It is held that the Central Pacific stockholders were agents of the United States.

Congressman Livingstone has returned from a trip to Venezuela bringing maps showing that the British claim Venezuelan territory on seven different lines of survey.

Walter R. Lambert, defaulting clerk of the Oakland Police Court, who ran away to Honolulu and returned, has been sentenced to five years in San Quentin.

The large Pacific squadron of Russia is scattered along the coast from Vladivostok, with some vessels at that port, the squadron being thus divided to prevent anyone getting an idea of the exact point where the greatest naval strength is combined. There are 80,000 troops quartered at Vladivostok.

Almost three entire blocks covered with dwellings, lumber yards and expensive manufacturing plants went up in smoke. Over two hundred buildings in all were wiped out of existence, entailing a loss of over $1,000,000. Insurance $250,000. No lives were lost but several casualties were reported.

The London Chronicle says a more audacious piece of nepotism was never perpetrated than that in the formation of Lord Salisbury's Cabinet. The Premiership, the Secretaryship of Foreign Affairs, the leadership in the House of Commons and the Irish Secretaryship are held by members of a single family, while an Under-Secretaryship is held by Lord Salisbury's son-in-law. Gerald Balfour's appointment as Chief Secretary is a calamity for Ireland. He is a brother of A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury.

THE CUBAN REBELLION.

Regia, across the bay from Havana, is under martial law.

Preparations for reorganizing the provisional government are being made.

Cuban insurgents burned the town of San Geronimo and captured its garrison of Spanish troops.

It is reported the Cubans expect three torpedo boats from France, and not until their arrival will the Cubans begin what is intended to be their most effective work.

A large quantity of explosives has been shipped on the steamer Earwood at Philadelphia for Marshal Campos, Captain General of Cuba. When the Spanish consul protested, a permit from Campos was produced.

Victories on both sides are reported from Cuba. In Puerto Principe the Cubans were beaten by the Spanish. The Spanish cruiser Magallanes drove rebels out of Marabi, a village at the eastern end of Santiago de Cuba.

Private advices received at Tampa, Florida, say General Campos is preparing a conveyance loaded with poisoned food and cartridges without powder. His idea is to let the Cubans capture the stuff and eat the poisoned food.

General de Quesada has issued an address on behalf of the Cubans to the American people. He says they are fighting a system of infamy and oppression. They are fighting the Spanish troops, not the Spanish people, and they find American sentiment with them.

A gentleman who came from Havana to Key West, Florida, by steamer says the island of Cuba is ablaze with the revolutionary fever. Gomez is marching on Havana at the head of 8000 well-drilled troops. He surprised and routed 1500 Spanish troops at Alta Gracia and burned that town.

Stove

No lottery, raffle or game of chance, but a straight business proposition. Every person who purchases one of our New Process Stoves between Thursday Morning, June 27, and One o'clock Wednesday, August 7, will be entitled to one guess as to how many of these stoves will be sold up to that time, it being then just five months since the first stove was purchased. The person guessing correctly, or coming nearest to the correct number, will receive at once a present in cash of the full amount paid for his stove; in case of two or more persons guessing the winning number, each shall make a further guess on the sales of the following week, one person thus finally receiving the prize.

As the stoves will be sold at regular price, no one risks anything, only if you guess nearest to the right number your stove costs you nothing. The prize being simply an ad. for New Process Stoves. Seal your guess in an envelope and place your name and address on the inside, and some private mark on the outside. The envelopes will be carefully kept and no one but the guessers will know what is inside each until the date of opening. A correct list of stoves sold will be hung up before the opening of envelopes, which will be done at our store in the Waring Block, Fort and Beretania, at 1 p.m. on August 7, in the presence of stove purchasers and the public.
